And when a bandit shows up wounded in her barn and claims to be just a drifter, she needs to either kill him or cure him. Can a man who has lived a life of running from his own demons stay in one place long enough to help a beautiful woman in need of the protection of a man?

The Gunslinger:

Sinclair "Sin" Graves has turned to gunslinging after seeing his mother killed five years ago. Now the man he's hunted is hunting him, and things could only end up getting ugly. Millie Hodge is the daughter of the town's judge, and also Sin's past sweetheart. Now Sin's back in town and he owes the judge a favor - and she ends up in a position she's not sure she wants to be in where Sin is concerned. Can a schoolteacher with a dark secret forgive the man she's loved for choosing his guns over her? And will Sin be a fast enough draw when it comes to rebuilding a broken relationship with a woman he's never forgotten?
