As you read through this book, you will find diversity in thought, yet unity in philosophical belief. You will find truths that know no religion, yet are present in many. You will find individuality, yet they all function as a community. You will find all of this and more, but what we hope you take away from it is how much we value what the path has helped us accomplish for ourselves and those we interact with every day. All profits made from this book by the authors will be donated to UNICEF.
