Finally! Energy healing from a Christian/LDS view. A mother's search to help her ill daughter with bipolar leads to astonishing answers and LDS insight on Energy Healing. Nearly 500 full color illustrations compare world views with scriptures and words of prophets. Stan Gardner, M.D. writes, "Tamara Laing has introduced major ground breaking insights into the whole field of energy medicine. Tamara has been able to bring together the philosophies of religion and the philosophies of science, recognizing that the reality is often simply a difference in terminology and not concept. In this book she is able to bring together disparate pieces and place them into a magnificent picture of the whole. [She] draws from a great number of separate sources to create a fluid, enlightening and fascinating read. This is a treasure trove of healing." Puzzling questions are answered: Do prophets speak about life force energy? Are auras & chakras in the Bible? Are energy healing principles harmonious with LDS beliefs? Do scriptures teach about thoughts and emotions affecting the body? Does "darkness" have anything to do with illness? Do scriptures address generational issues or long-distance healing? Consciousness is highlighted along with forgiveness, gratitude and praise in all things. Here is a valuable reference manual with a broad collection of validating quotes. It will be greatly appreciated by clients, facilitators of healing arts, and the spiritually gifted -- as well as those who may not understand them. Read this book and become an enlightened health consumer! (Perfect binding suitable for bookstores.)
